

An Integration with N2N Illuminate

Paying for higher education is stressful enough on families. Using an outdated payment system only makes things more difficult—and yet, that’s what many colleges and universities are doing.

Whether those platforms are confusing, insecure, or simply inconvenient—many require users to visit different websites to pay tuition in full, set up a payment plan, or pay other associated bills—using a platform that doesn’t keep your users happy can lead to all kinds of administrative and customer service problems.

- Users come away dissatisfied with their payment experience.
- Staff must spend more time reconciling payments, helping students through the payment process, and/or dealing with user or staff errors.

- Institutions must reckon with a greater possibility of data breaches.

ACI Worldwide’s campus commerce solutions create a simpler, streamlined payment experience for students and their families, which can have a significant effect on student satisfaction.

In fact, institutions of higher education that implement newer, more convenient ways to pay can raise student satisfaction by 24 percent, while also improving data security and reducing the amount of time staff spend on payments.

ACI Worldwide’s products are now integrated with N2N’s Illuminate, a gateway that empowers its customers to create, manage, secure and monetize APIs, as well as build bridges between two APIs without any need for programming and additional infrastructure.

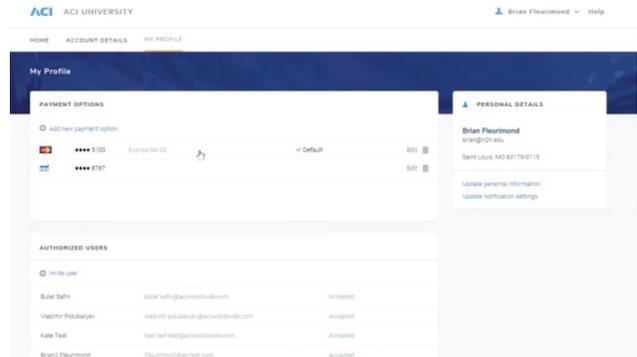

Here’s how ACI Worldwide’s campus commerce system can help your institution.
